

September 29, 2008

Andy Egan Company awarded the MSCA GreenStar Certification

Andy Egan Company, a full service mechanical construction company, was recently awarded the MSCA GreenStar Contractor Certification. The Andy Egan Company earned this distinction by successfully demonstrating its commitment to environmental stewardship throughout the company. The Green Star designation confirms that the Andy Egan Company possesses the skills and expertise necessary to deliver energy-efficient, cost-effective indoor environmental solutions.

The MSCA Green STAR is an achievement designation for service excellence awarded to an elite group of mechanical service contractors by the Mechanical Service Contractors of America (MSCA), the nation's leading trade association representing the heating, ventilation, air conditioning and refrigeration (HVACR) service contractor. Companies that attain GreenStar certification are recognized as the leaders in the green movement within the HVAC industry demonstrating environmental responsibility by meeting specific criteria.

The Andy Egan Company is only one of eleven in the nation that has qualified as a MSCA Green Star. The Andy Egan Company has the proven skills and expertise necessary to deliver energy efficient and cost effective indoor environmental solutions to meet customer needs and to ensure tenant satisfaction.

Andy Egan Service Manager Jeff Bechtel

Andy Egan has been part of the Green movement at the national level of the U.S. Green Building Council and local West Michigan Green Building Council with two full time LEED AP professionals since 2004.

“Obtaining this certification is one way to demonstrate to our customers and the community that the Andy Egan Company truly cares for the environment and this belief influences the way we conduct our business”, comments Jeff Bechtel, Service Manager.

Andy J. Egan Company is a full service Mechanical Contractor based on the northwest side of Grand Rapids, Michigan. A satellite office is maintained approximately 60 miles south of Grand Rapids in Portage, Michigan. This serves as the base of operations for Service Specialists who service the needs of clients in the southwestern Michigan and northern Indiana.

Andy J. Egan specializes in mechanical systems for commercial, industrial, institutional, public and private sectors. Specific areas of expertise include process and environmental heating and cooling, design-build contracting, water treatment and wastewater treatment facilities, Custom Pipe Fabrication, plumbing, process piping systems, air conditioning and ventilation systems, Authorized Johnson Controls building controls specialist and 24 hours / 7 day service.

Andy Egan Company is a member of the West Michigan Mechanical Contractors Association, the local affiliate of the national MSCA.

Contact: Business contact Jeff Bechtel (616-791-9952) or Cindy Morse (616-735-9658) with questions or comments concerning this press release.